Item 2.02 Results of Operations and Financial Condition

On April 15, 2009, Kennametal Inc. (Kennametal or the Company) announced revised earnings guidance for its fiscal 2009 third quarter ended March 31, 2009. Kennametal's organic sales declined by 32 percent from the same quarter one year ago. As a result of lower than expected sales volumes driven primarily by the continuing global economic downturn, earnings per diluted share (EPS) for the third quarter are expected to be approximately $0.01, excluding charges related to restructuring and impairment. This expected EPS reflects an operating loss before charges of approximately $6 million and an income tax benefit. The charges related to restructuring are expected to be approximately $0.51 per share and the charges related to impairment are expected to range from $1.25 to $1.50 per share. Reported results for the quarter are expected to reflect a loss per diluted share in the range of $1.75 to $2.00.

EPS, excluding charges relating to restructuring and impairment, is a non-generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) financial measure. The most comparable GAAP measure is EPS. Management adjusts for these charges in measuring and compensating internal performance and to more easily compare the Company's financial performance period-to-period. Management believes that the presentation of this non-GAAP financial measure provides useful information about the results of operations of the Company for the period. In addition, management believes that investors should have available the same information that management uses to assess operating performance and determine compensation. This non-GAAP measure should not be considered in isolation as a substitute for the most comparable GAAP measure. A reconciliation follows:

THREE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 2009 (UNAUDITED)

A copy of the Company's announcement is furnished under Exhibit 99.1 attached hereto. This information shall not be deemed "filed" for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"), or incorporated by reference into any filing under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (the "Securities Act") or the Exchange Act, except as shall be expressly set forth by specific reference in such a filing.

Item 2.05 Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities

On April 15, 2009, Kennametal also announced its intention to undertake additional restructuring actions, which are expected to generate annual pre-tax savings of approximately $25 million and will be completed over the next six to nine months. The Company anticipates recording pre-tax cash charges related to these actions of approximately $25 million. These new plans, together with restructuring programs previously announced over the past few quarters, are expected to produce annual ongoing pre-tax savings of $125 million once all are fully implemented. The combined total pre-tax charges related thereto are expected to be approximately $115 million, including approximately $61 million recorded through the March 2009 quarter.

Item 2.06 Material Impairments

In connection with the preparation of its financial statements for fiscal third quarter 2009, the Company has determined that it will be required to record impairment charges related to the carrying value of the goodwill and indefinite-lived intangible assets, associated with its surface finishing machines and services business and its industrial business, within its Advanced Materials Solutions Group. The decision to commence impairment testing resulted from a combination of factors, including the dramatic decline in the U.S. and global economies and, particularly, the continuing weakness in the automotive and industrial sectors and other markets served by these businesses. These and other factors have contributed to a reduction in forecasted profits and cash flows from those originally projected in the business plans of these operations. Upon completion of impairment testing, the Company's third quarter financial results are expected to include a non-cash pre-tax goodwill impairment charge ranging from $100 to $120 million, or $1.25 to $1.50 per share. This impairment charge will be reflected in the Company's condensed consolidated financial statements for the fiscal 2009 third quarter ended March 31, 2009. The impairment charge is not expected to result in future cash expenditures.

This Form 8-K contains "forward-looking" statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act and Section 21E of the Exchange Act, including statements regarding anticipated financial results for the Company's fiscal third quarter, the Company's intention to undertake additional restructuring actions and the expected charges and benefits related to them, the likelihood and the range of an impairment charge or charges to be recognized in the third quarter, the timing for completion of impairment testing, and expectations regarding future cash expenditures. These statements are based on current expectations that involve inherent risks and uncertainties. Should one or more of these risks or uncertainties materialize, or should the assumptions underlying the forward-looking statements prove incorrect, actual outcomes could vary materially from those indicated. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those we expect include; the risk that impairment testing results in significantly greater charges than expected; continued worsening of global and regional economic conditions; availability and cost of the raw materials we use to manufacture our products; our ability to protect our intellectual property in foreign jurisdictions; our foreign operations and international markets, such as currency exchange rates, different regulatory environments, trade barriers, exchange controls, and social and political instability; energy costs; commodity prices; competition; integrating recent acquisitions, as well as any future acquisitions, and achieving the related expected savings and synergies; business divestitures; demands on management resources; our ability to implement restructuring actions and realize the related savings; environmental remediation matters; demand for and market acceptance of new and existing products; future terrorist attacks or acts of war; and labor relations. These and other risks are more fully described in Kennametal's latest annual report on Form 10-K and its other periodic filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We undertake no obligation to release publicly any revisions to forward-looking statements as a result of future events or developments.

KENNAMETAL REVISES MARCH QUARTER EARNINGS GUIDANCE; IMPLEMENTING FURTHER COST REDUCTION ACTIONS

- Downturn in global markets steeper than anticipated
- Implementing employee furloughs and more restructuring activities
- Organic sales decline for March quarter of 32%
- Expects EPS for March quarter of approximately $0.01, excluding charges related to restructuring and impairment
- Expects positive cash flow from operating activities of $164 million for the nine months ended March 31, 2009

LATROBE, Pa., (April 15, 2009) — Kennametal Inc. (NYSE: KMT) today announced revised earnings guidance for the March quarter due to a steeper than expected downturn in global markets. In response to the lower than projected business levels, the company implemented further cost reduction and cash management initiatives in the March quarter. Also, the company plans to take further actions going forward, including additional restructuring. The company continues to take strong and focused steps to maximize cash flow.

“Global business conditions, particularly in Europe, declined further in the second half of the March quarter,” said Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer Carlos Cardoso. “As we saw this trend developing, we reacted quickly with additional measures to reduce costs and support cash flow while continuing to execute our previously announced restructuring and other cost reduction programs. These measures included unpaid employee furloughs, a temporary suspension of matching company contributions to certain defined contribution employee benefit plans, and other related actions across our global enterprise. We will continue to implement additional cost reduction initiatives, including restructuring, as necessary. All of this will position Kennametal for growth once global markets begin to recover. We remain confident in our ability to effectively manage through the global economic downturn while continuing to serve our customers and preserve our competitive strengths,” Cardoso added.

Further Restructuring Actions

Kennametal intends to undertake further restructuring actions which are expected to generate $25 million in annual savings once fully implemented over the next six to nine months. The company expects to incur pre-tax cash charges of approximately $25 million in connection with the execution of these new initiatives. These new plans, together with restructuring programs previously announced over the past few quarters, are expected to produce annual ongoing pre-tax savings of $125 million once all are fully implemented. The combined total pre-tax charges related thereto are expected to be approximately $115 million, including approximately $61 million recorded through the March 2009 quarter. In addition to these restructuring programs, the company will continue to take other steps to adjust its costs and level of operations to the extent necessary and appropriate.

March Quarter Earnings Guidance

Kennametal’s organic sales declined from the prior year quarter by 32 percent for its fiscal third quarter ended March 31, 2009. As a result of lower than expected sales volumes, earnings per diluted share (EPS) for its fiscal 2009 third quarter are expected to be approximately $0.01, excluding charges related to restructuring and impairment. This expected EPS reflects an operating loss before charges of approximately $6 million as well as an income tax benefit. The charges related to restructuring for the March 2009 quarter are expected to be approximately $0.51 per share.

The company is currently performing an interim impairment test of goodwill and long-lived assets for certain of its businesses in view of the decline in sales and the impact and persistence of the global economic downturn. Upon completion of this testing, the company expects to record non-cash pre-tax impairment charges of $100 to $120 million for the March 2009 quarter. Reported results for the quarter are expected to be a loss per diluted share in the range of $1.75 to $2.00.

The company expects to report positive cash flow from operating activities of approximately $164 million for the nine months ended March 31, 2009. Based on capital expenditures of approximately $91 million, free operating cash flow for the same nine month period is expected to be approximately $73 million.

In addition, the company issued monthly order trends today and this information is available on the Investor Relations section of Kennametal’s corporate website at www.kennametal.com.

This release contains “forward-looking” statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Forward-looking statements are statements that do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. You can identify forward-looking statements by the fact they use words such as “should,” “anticipate,” “estimate,” “approximate,” “expect,” “may,” “will,” “project,” “intend,” “plan,” “believe” and other words of similar meaning and expression in connection with any discussion of future operating or financial performance or event. Forward looking statements in this release concern, among other things, Kennametal’s expectations regarding its results for the third quarter and nine months ended March 31, 2009, timeframe for and results of impairment testing, cost savings initiatives, and additional restructuring activities, all of which are based on current expectations that involve inherent risks and uncertainties. Should one or more of these risks or uncertainties materialize, or should the assumptions underlying the forward-looking statements prove incorrect, actual outcomes could vary materially from those indicated. Among the factors that could cause the actual results to differ materially from those indicated in the forward-looking statements are risks and uncertainties related to: continued uncertainty or further decline in global and regional economic conditions; availability and cost of the raw materials we use to manufacture our products; our ability to protect our intellectual property in foreign jurisdictions; our foreign operations and international markets, such as currency exchange rates, different regulatory environments, trade barriers, exchange controls, and social and political instability; energy costs; commodity prices; competition; integrating recent acquisitions, as well as any future acquisitions, and achieving the expected savings and synergies; business divestitures; demands on management resources; our ability to implement restructuring plans and cost savings initiatives; environmental remediation matters; demand for and market acceptance of new and existing products; future terrorist attacks or acts of war; and labor relations. These and other risks are more fully described in Kennametal’s latest annual report on Form 10-K and its other periodic filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We undertake no obligation to release publicly any revisions to forward-looking statements as a result of future events or developments.
